

WEBCAST: DECONSTRUCTING DC MECHANIC'S LIEN LAW

TUESDAY - OCTOBER 16 - 2012

BROUGHT TO YOU BY THE SCHOOL OF CONSTRUCTION LAW AT

Every general contractor or specialty contractor has run into the problem of not getting paid after a job is completed.

You may already know that your last hope is to file a mechanic's lien. You may not know that you only get one shot at filing, so doing it correctly the first time is crucial.

Review and analyze the laws that govern a contractor's ability to enforce a lien and collect a debt for labor provided and materials furnished on a construction project.

This seminar will provide attendees with:

- New and existing technical requirements to enforce your lien
- The tools to decrease the likelihood that your lien will be rejected at the Recorder of Deeds Office
- An understanding of what you need to do to reduce the "90th day anxiety"
