

Virginia Alcoholic Beverage Round Table

THE NEW ABC AND YOU

Virginia is on the forefront of winemaking, craft brewing and distilling. With all of the innovation in production, distribution and service, law makers and enforcement officials are working to keep pace and provide effective controls without stifling progress. Similarly, innovations by restaurant and bar owners as well as event producers - from outdoor seating to “pop-up” temporary or experimental restaurants, beer gardens, community festivals, sports events and the like - also present a challenge to the application of existing laws and regulations. The ability to secure the required alcoholic beverage license is essential to success.

Please join us on April 5, 2018, for a panel discussion regarding:

- the transition of the Virginia Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control Agency (VA ABC) to an authority and how this will impact regulation and the sale of alcohol;
- recent changes to VA ABC laws; and
- common and emerging regulatory challenges and proposed solutions from the perspective of VA ABC staff, local officials and ABC permit holders.

The program will conclude with a Q&A session including Tom Kirby, VA ABC Acting Chief of Law Enforcement, Jim Mastoras, Restaurant Liaison Office for Arlington County Police Department, and Mark Viani, a partner with the law firm of Bean, Kinney and Korman, P.C.
